

The Assistant Pastor

February, 1944

Financial Issue

Once more we stop to make an accounting of the Finances of our congregation. It is necessary that we do this so that every communicant member may know how the affairs of his congregation are managed, so all may know whether enough is being contributed to carry on the work of his congregation and his Synod. We publish these figures without any pride, for we know that no one of us has contributed as much as the widow who gave her mite, or as lavishly as Mary who broke a costly alabaster box of ointment at her Savior's feet.

While there is no occasion for pride in any individual contributor, there are a number of things in this annual report that are encouraging. One of those things is the response that was given to the appeal of the Synod for Contributions to the Jubilee Fund. During the two years just passed the Saude congregation contributed $4,220.52, and the Jerico congregation $2,586.85 to the Jubilee Fund. Those totals are far beyond any expectations that we may have had when the drive began, and they show the willingness of our people to give when they realize the specific need for their gifts. These contributions are the more encouraging because of the fact, which we should not fail to mention, that during these two years the members did not diminish their contributions to the regular offerings for the Synod's work.

Our Jubilee year is over, and no further appeals will be made for this fund, but we shall do well now to look toward the future so that we may prevent the recurrence of a debt in our Synod. In considering the financial picture in these congregations we should remember that the cost of maintaining our congregations is reduced to about half of the usual cost of maintaining a congregation, because both congregations are served by one pastor. For that reason we should contribute more to the Synod than congregations which have double our local expense. We should endeavor to make the contributions of our congregations for local expenses and Synodical funds combined to equal, at least, the total of such contributions made by Lutherans in other congregations and Synods. The table given below will illustrate what our aim should be, and will serve to compare our contributions with those that others make.

AVERAGE CONTRIBUTIONS PER COMMUNICANT

| | Local Expense | Synod Contribution | Total Contributed |
|---------------------------|------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|
| All Lutheran Synods | $13.75 | $3.64 | $17.39 |
| Missouri Synod | 17.77 | 4.47 | 22.24 |
| Jerico Congregation | 5.05 | 3.15 | 8.20 |
| Saude Congregation | 7.86 | 5.04 | 12.90 |

(Jubilee Fund Contributions not included in this table)

These comparisons surely show that we ought to contribute more to the work of our church in the world. You are all receiving a package of envelopes containing twelve envelopes for use in contributing to the Synod. We ought all to resolve to use these envelopes, and to give at least something for the Synod's work each month. Should not all resolve that his minimum contribution is to be thirty cents a month (a penny a day)? Could not many do as some last year who placed a dollar in each envelope? But only you know how the Lord has prospered you, and only you can judge whether you have given accordingly. Your pastor hopes you will do what is right, and he earnestly hopes that next year's report will not show as many blank spaces as are present in the report this year.

Grateful acknowledgement is herewith made of the thoughtfulness of our men in service who remembered their home congregations and their Synod with gifts during the year past.

We also wish to acknowledge the following contributions which were received too late to include in the report. Jeff O. Knutson, $12.00; Ole A. Knutson, $18.00; Alvie Iverson, $5.00. Also a contribution of $5.00 to the Jubilee Fund made by Severt Knutson. These contributions will be a part of the next annual report.

Redeemer Lutheran Church, New Hampton, wishes to express its gratefulness for the gifts of the Saude and Jerico Ladies Aids, and the gifts of individual members of Saude and Jerico congregations to its Building Fund.
